Annual Membership Meeting & Leadership Opportunities

Join fellow Soil and Water Conservation District supervisors from across Florida for the AFCD Annual Membership Meeting and help shape the future of conservation leadership in our state.

August 25, 9:00 a.m.

Florida Farm Bureau, 5700 SW 34th Blvd., Gainesville, FL 32608

Cost of Attendance: $25 per person (includes lunch)

Why Attend?

- Receive updates on AFCD activities and priorities
- Network with conservation leaders from across Florida
- Help guide the future direction of the Association
- Participate in Executive Board elections

Become an AFCD Member

AFCD provides a unified voice for Florida's conservation districts, advocating for local priorities and strengthening partnerships that support farmers, ranchers, landowners, and natural resource conservation efforts statewide.

Membership helps:

- Strengthen conservation district representation
- Support statewide education and outreach efforts
- Advance conservation priorities at the state and national level

Serve on the AFCD Executive Board

Executive Board elections will be held during the Annual Membership Meeting. If you are passionate about conservation and want to help ensure Florida's districts remain strong, effective, and well represented, consider serving.

Board service offers the opportunity to:

- Represent and advocate for conservation districts statewide
- Help guide AFCD programs and initiatives
- Preserve a strong voice for local conservation leadership
- Leave a lasting impact for future generations of supervisors

Florida's conservation districts succeed because dedicated volunteers step forward to serve. Whether by becoming a member, attending the Annual Meeting, or seeking election to the Executive Board, your involvement helps strengthen conservation across our state. (District dues must be paid to vote and serve.)
